fense Forces. In his blog post, “Rising up — David’s aliyah experience,” he shares the stories and feelings behind the journey.

Welcoming David on his arrival were Justin Hellman and Sari Roy, among others. Justin is spending his UA junior year abroad at Hebrew University. Sari, 28, a 2003 UA grad, has been living in Israel for the past year, officially made aliyah on May 4 and is working for Nefesh B'Nefesh, which helps minimize the financial, professional, logistical and social obstacles that potential olim (immigrants to Israel) face.
